SEAS Compute Environment

Much of SEAS Research Computing (High Performance Computing) hardware infrastructure has moved to FAS Research Computing (FASRC). The remaining hardware is in “maintenance mode” and will be phased out. New users should obtain a FASRC account by visiting https://rc.fas.harvard.edu

- Getting Started
- Getting Started with HPC
- How To Connect
- Imaging using clonezilla and SEAS PXE boot
- Overview of Compute Resources
- Recovering Deleted Data From Snapshots
- Remote Desktop
- SEAS Login Server
- Shell, Environment, and Modules